PLEIADIAN EARTH ENERGY ASTROLOGY

by Pia Orleane, Ph.D. & Cullen Baird Smith

We live in a world that is bound by time, and we measure our experiences on a linear scale oriented toward the past or the future. But the rest of the universe is not linear. Stars, planets, and other orbiting bodies in the galaxy move in circular or elliptical patterns. In fact, about 80 percent of known galaxies exist in a spiral form. The remainder exist in elliptical-spiral combinations or as irregular, shapeless forms. We live in a spiraling universe; therefore, should we not recognize that as part of the universe, our consciousness also moves in spirals? And realizing this, should we not understand that our own evolution could most easily be achieved by participating with spirals of energy, rather than restricting our development through our current focus on linear time – past and future?

When we move away from our focus on time we can begin to understand that everything in the universe is organized around the movement of energy. Pleiadian-Earth Energy Astrology is based upon the concept that energy is alive, conscious, and intelligent. It knows how to move and where to go for its most efficient application.

Energy is nonlinear. It arrives in waves, vibrations, or frequencies. Waves transport energy everywhere. In fact all of life is about wave motion, and our experiences occur in wave motion, not in linear, fragmented parcels of time. We ourselves are waves of energy; we are not static, unchanging solid particles joined in some random (or intentional) fashion. Our bodies are even equipped to translate the vibrations of incoming energy into the experiences of our reality. This is how we interface with our third-dimensional world – our physical senses are designed to interpret vibrational signatures of energy. Our sight translates vibration into what we see, our hearing translates vibration into sound, our olfactory senses translate vibrations of energy into smell, and so on.

Science has not yet been able to explain the deeper underlying structure of harmonics that form life. But recent scientific observations have revealed that our material world is not as solid as we may believe it to be. It consists of unrealized vibratory possibilities, which are rendered into the solid physical world we perceive through the energy of thought. Waves of energy manifest into physical form through interacting with other waves of energy. Einstein attempted to prove this while working on his unified field theory. Today his work on this idea is simply interpreted to mean that every thought we think affects every aspect of our reality.

When we begin to observe and participate with energy as energy, rather than using time as our organizing principle, we can discover how to truly participate with other energies to create a different reality on Earth. The magnetic field of our planet broadcasts a very wide range of energetic frequencies that commingle with the energy of the Sun and other planets in our solar system, even extending out farther into the cosmos. Astrophysicist Percy Seymour proposed that each of us is attuned to specific frequencies that were magnetically imprinted upon us while we were still in the womb. We, the authors, see that magnetic imprint as an alignment with specific energetic frequencies, which we delve into more deeply in Pleiadian-Earth Energy Astrology to explain the specific essence of each energetic frequency and how to work with it. Understanding how these energies have imprinted upon us as we arrived on Earth in physical form is equivalent to understanding our purpose. How are we defined by a specific combination of frequencies, and how can we utilize that frequency combination we call our individual selves to participate in human evolution here on Earth and beyond into an infinite universe? The continual wave motion of energy can be explained somewhat today through quantum physics. At the quantum level, scientists perceive phenomena as either particles or waves, depending upon how they are measured. Particles are perceived to be stable and unchanging localizations in a quantum field of continually moving waves.

We humans typically view ourselves as particles – stable, static, unchanging (for the most part) – rather than as waves. Once we are born, according to Percy Seymour, our senses begin to take in information and send it to our brains. We lose the sense of being fluid, undulating, as our immediate sensory experience begins to override our earlier prenatal experience of magnetic or energetic resonance. We forget about our earlier wave-like forms.

It is fundamentally unfeasible for us to believe that we are progressing in developmental strides when we are not in harmony with cosmic rhythms. By segmenting our experiences into blocks of time, especially focusing on a perceived past or hoped-for future, we have become ever more separated from each other and from Nature, stuck in the artificial rhythms of man-made time. We have further separated ourselves through a belief that everything that happens to us is local, meaning that it involves a transfer of some kind of signal through some kind of force, giving it the appearance of a reality manifested through cause and effect only. Nothing could be further from the truth. We actually live in a nonlocal universe, meaning that everything can happen simultaneously, regardless of distance between objects or events.

We need to step away from the limits of time and begin to recognize the possibility that events can and do occur in synchronicity, and that we have the ability to participate in the way energy unfolds into our manifested reality. Everything is connected simultaneously, and these connections are not affected by size or distance. Yet the energy of each instant is separate and distinct, and each energy adds to the energy that presented before it and contributes to the energy that follows. To realize the potential available in this understanding, we must begin to carefully watch the energy of the moment and respond accordingly.

The purpose of Pleiadian-Earth Energy Astrology is to expand our human awareness by reorganizing our understanding of energy. The astrological system unveiled in the book introduces energy as a potential – making us who we are and providing endless opportunities to unfold into our true selves. It's an evolutionary process. We can become who we're intended to be. Unlike some earlier astrological systems, this system does not rely only on the element of time or the placement of specific planets to define an individual. The system acknowledges that each of us came to relate to specific energies and to synchronistically participate with every available energy. Each of us magnetically aligns to several specific energies as we come into human form to understand and work with those aspects of energy more completely. We are here on Earth to fully explore each aspect of every energy, and to intelligently integrate the results of our exploration. We reach unity when we share our combined understanding and integration with each other. This is how our species can evolve.
